PROJECT

Project - 1

Weather App

(HTML, Tailwind, React.js)

- The React Weather App hosted at <https://reactweatherapp-red.vercel.app/> appears to be a weather forecasting application built using React.
- Location Input: Users can enter a location (city, zip code, etc.) to get weather information.
- Current Weather Display: Displays the current weather conditions for the specified location, including temperature, humidity, wind speed, and conditions (like sunny, rainy, etc.).
- Forecast: Provides a forecast for the upcoming days, typically including temperature highs and lows, precipitation chances, and weather conditions.
- Responsive Design: Ensures the application looks good and functions well across different devices and screen sizes.
- API Integration: Utilizes weather APIs to fetch real-time and forecasted weather data
